The secret to moving mountains with one's mind
Lies in the ability to free one's thoughts from
The rigid conditioning of everyday life; the more
An individual surrenders to the stillness within,
The more it will blossom as a springtime flower.